DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I (claims 1-6) in Paper No. 4 is acknowledged.

Claims 7-17 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 4.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Ijima et al. Ijima et al teach a molded lens (Figure 2, element 2) for use in an optical pickup, having a first and second optical surface, a first optical surface having a circularly shaped outer periphery, and a flat surface section (Figure 2, element 4) substantially in parallel with a plane including an optical axis of the lens as claimed in independent claim 1 of the instant invention. Ijima et al also teach a second substantially flat surface section (Figure 2, element 28), located opposite the first flat surface (Figure 2, element 4) being substantial in parallel with a plane including the optical axis of the lens, connecting the first and second surfaces, as claimed in dependent claim 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ijima et al as applied to claims 1 and 2 above, and further in view of Togashi. Ijima et al fail to teach a lens having a correction for astigmatism, however, Togashi teaches an optical pickup lens (column 1, lines 13-17) having a first and second optical surface wherein the lens is manufactured such that correction for an optical error (e.g. astigmatism) is corrected at the time of molding (column 4, lines 47-56). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the optical pickup lens Ijima et al with the optical lens of Togashi incorporating the well known astigmatism corrective feature for the purpose of obtaining an optical pickup lens designed for mounting in an optical pickup such that undesired oscillations are eliminated.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3 and 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art taken either singularly or in combination fails to anticipate or fairly suggest the limitations of the independent claims, in such a manner that a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102 or 103 would be proper. The prior art fails to teach a combination of all the claimed features as presented in dependent claims 3 and 6. For example, the claimed limitation of the molded lens having a second circular optical surface with a diameter larger than the first circular optical surface as claimed in dependent claim 3 in combination with the limitation of a molded optical lens having a flat surface section substantially in parallel with a plane including an optical axis of the coupling lens as claimed in independent claim 1, is not taught by the prior art. The prior art again fails to teach the limitations as claimed in dependent claim 3, as outlined above, in combination with the claimed limitations of the molded coupling lens being shaped (e.g., designed) to shape the light beam from a light source as claimed in dependent claim 6.
